

LOVE LETTER #2

Dear _____
name

I woke up this _____ and my _____ thinking time of day body part past tense verb about you. You're so _____, and also very _____. I'm adjective adjective not embarrassed to admit you make me feel _____. Just adjective thinking about your _____ makes me want to _____ my _____.
noun verb noun
When can I _____ you again? I can't stop thinking present-tense verb about the last time we _____. It was very _____.
past tense verb adjective Did your _____ feel that way, too? When we meet on _____ body part _____, I want you to wear that _____ that day of the week item of clothing makes you look so _____ and _____. I have one more adjective adjective _____ surprise for you. I'm going to take you to _____, adjective place where we can _____ all _____. Won't that present-tense verb time of day be _____?
